Why Couples Choose Love and Style Photography as Their Sarasota Engagement Photographer

Choosing the right Sarasota engagement photographer is about more than great pictures — it's about trust, connection, and comfort. At Love and Style Photography, we create an experience that feels easy, natural, and personal from start to finish.

Our couples love that we take time to learn their story, style, and comfort level before the camera ever turns on. That's how we capture photos that feel authentic — not posed — and full of genuine emotion.

A Relaxed Experience, Guided with Care

Most couples aren't used to being in front of the camera, and that's perfectly okay. We gently guide you with prompts instead of stiff poses so your session feels fun and effortless.

You'll never wonder what to do next — just focus on each other while we handle the rest. The result? Photos that look natural and true to who you are.

What to expect:

- Encouraging direction, not forced posing
- A relaxed pace and plenty of laughter
- Beautiful, natural-looking images that feel like you

From Engagements to Weddings and Beyond

Many couples start with engagement photos and continue with us for weddings, maternity, and family sessions. When you find a photographer who feels like a friend, it's easy to come back again and again.

> "They did both our engagement and wedding photos, and we received so many compliments on both. They coached us to feel confident and used creative lighting to make every photo shine." — Jackie

As experienced Sarasota and Anna Maria Island photographers, we know how to use Florida's light, locations, and timing to create dreamy, glowing portraits.
